Light Lines Small Pendant

Transparent Black with Brass-toned Stem Hardware

Jessica Alpern Brown's inherently sustainable mindset informs her newest Light Lines Collection. The colorful creations maximize material use and minimize waste by using cut-offs from her other products. The lights also utilize plastic cups reclaimed from catering companies for their center structure.

The collection offers a variety of shapes, sizes, and color options, from table lamps and the Small Pendant design to bold chandelier-inspired fixtures.

This pendant light is available in a range of single colors and partial-to-full color spectrum options (shown here in Transparent Black with Brass-toned Stem Hardware).

ABOUT THE PRODUCER

A multidisciplinary artist, Jessica Alpern Brown now offers fine art-inspired design products for commercial and residential spaces. With over 20 years of design and fabrication experience, Jessica works with a variety of materials from paper, acrylic, and metal to found objects, organic matter, and non-toxic resin. Her inherently sustainable mindset informs her Light Lines Collection. The colorful creations maximize material use and minimize waste by using cut-offs from her other products, like Contour Discs from our Monmade x CDCP Collection.

SUSTAINABILITY INFORMATION

Meets sustainablyMonmade Dimensions

- Woman- and veteran-owned business.
- Materials sourced from Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Utah.
- Laser-cut designs in acrylic require no framing or adhesives for assembly. Light Lines products utilize plastic cups reclaimed from catering companies.
- Lighting products are either UL-Certified or use UL-listed components. Producer uses domestic third-party manufacturing for the UL Certification and assembly of her lights, including manufacturing support partners in Derry, PA and Denver, CO.
- Producer offsets her studio's energy usage with a wind power generator and rainwater collection.
- Producer's primarily manufacturing facility is a shared maker space, Protohaven, which is in proximity to producer's studio, located within an LMI area, and currently working on increasing environmental initiatives.
